Personal Profile

Fascinated by technology my entire life, I started studying International Media and Computing in October 2015. Since then, I learned a lot about Algorithms, Data Structures and how to implement those using Java. Furthermore, we learned the basics of HTML, CSS and JavaScript while doing a project in the first semester, in which we built a small website from scratch. Right now I am learning SQL and Ruby while gaining further experience in Java by learning OpenGL, which is a lot of fun to me.

Whenever I am not studying I enjoy exploring culture and music. I recently bought a subscription for the 'Staatliche Museen zu Berlin', in which there is much to discover and learn, so I like to spend my time there.
